From the Christian Messenger. Non-Attendance on Public Worship.

In a recent issue we called attention to the painful fact, that a large portion of the inhabitants of our State were in habitual neglect of public worship upon the Sabbath. There are undoubtedly various influences that contribute to this neglect, some of which, we have already mentioned. It is not, however, of so much consequence to know what are the causes, as to be able to know by what means a remedy may be provided. We design in this article to make suggestions in regard to means which may be applied to awaken a greater interest upon this subject.

It is important that the professed children of God, in this regard, set an example worthy of imitation. It is obvious that no small portion of this neglect of the house of God, lies at the doors of those who profess the highest regard for the claims of the Gospel. Among these are found not a few who not only neglect social meetings, but are often absent from the sanctuary. They are not apparent ly dictated by any strong, unbending principles, but consult their own convenience and indifferent feelings, and regard it of but little account where and how the Sabbath is spent. Every professed Christian is under a strong obligation to give his or her influence to sustain the institutions of the Gospel. We have a right to expect that they will cheerfully pay of their substance for its maintenance, and also give to this cause the weight of their example. How many families and neighborhoods have been led to treat the means of grace with indifference from the neglect of professing Christians! If any thing is needed to convince any one of the magnitude of this neglect, let them calculate the average attendance of the members of their own church upon Sabbath services. In this matter, there is a great responsibility resting upon the professed disciples of the Savior. We fear that many who are guilty do not know what they do-they do not reflect upon the nature and results of their

In addition to a good example there should be systematic efforts to call into the house of God these neglectors of salvations. All will laws will not be suspended where the people be ready to concede that it is the duty of the loyally execute them.

pastor to go from house to house, not only among those who attend upon his ministry. but especially upon those who neglect it. He should go out into the " highways and hedges and compel them to come in, that the house may be filled." The minister who neglects this is likely to neglect a very important part of his work, and as the result, the blood of souls may be found in the skirts of his gar-58 ments. But the entire responsibility of this work does not belong to the minister .-Churches are inclined to ask and expect too much of the pastor; it is not possible for him to do all that may be requisite to sustain the interests of the Church. Every person 11 interested in the prosperity of Zion should be active in personal effort to augment the attendance upon the means of grace. A committee might be appointed to go through different neighborhoods for the express purpose of conversation and prayer, and by this means call attention to this subject, and invite all 39 to the place of prayer. This course has frequently been adopted with good success among other denominations. An exchange 26 says: 95 "Two years since, 'systematic visitation' was begun and prosecuted with great vigor in some of the New York Churches. This consists in each congregation taking a portion of territory, remote as well as contiguous to it, and dividing it up among the members, 42 who shall thus visit every family. Their spiritual wants and destitution, as well as temporal necessities, are thus ascertained and provided for. The 'Brick Church' has just taken hold of this matter with a degree of vigor and earnestness which is most encouraging. Two crowded and enthusiastic meetings have been held, and addresses made by Revs. Dr. Spring and Hoge, and Mr. Pardee, of the Sunday School Union The warmest interest was manifested, and when volunteers were called for, over sixty names were entered. Subsequently the number was nearly doubled. Thus, from Murray Hill comes an example of a rich Church, whose members propose personally to go out into the highways and by-ways, and minister to the poorest classes in spiritual aud temporal mat-

This method should immediately be adopted among our Churches in Vermont. This personal visitation, for strictly religious conversation, would do more to revive the Churches in city and country, than any other means that can be named. It is one of the great agencies of evangelization, that carries with it a two-fold blessing of priceless value, and no Church is too small or poor to avail themselves of it. Any number of members can divide themselves into small visiting committees, and go forth on this message of love. This is the season when special effort may be given to this work. Let feeble Churches. and all who wish to do and get good by successful labor in the cause of Christ, adopt some plan of this kind. Let the pastors propose it and see that the plan goes into successful operations. In connection with these efforts to visit the people, prayer-meetings might be held in different neighborhoods and thereby the fires of an interesting revival be kindled which may result in a joyful harvest for eternity. Here is a field open before all for religious effort which no one is at liberty to neglect. Let all do their duty. and trust in God for his blessing upon their

DECISIVE MEASURES IN MISSOURI .- The friends of the Government will regard with pleasure the prompt action of Gen. Fremont in suppressing the rebellion in Missouri. He evidently believes that it is time to be in earnest; that handling traitors with kid gloves is not the way to subdue them; that administering a mild dose of oath to a man who began his crime by breaking the most sucred of oaths is not the sort of punishment likely to prove exemplary. Instead of this, he extends the iron rule of martial law over the State : all men taken in arms are to be tried by courtmartial; and if found guilty they are to be shot; their property is confiscated, and their slaves are free from the date of the prociamation. Bridge and railroad destroyers will suffer the full penalty of the law; and all who aid the enemy by correspondence or giving information are ordered to desist. All men in the disaffected districts are ordered to return to their homes forthwith. The civil
